

Call-Up Rules

1. You can only have as many call-ups up to 9 players in total
2. You cannot have more call-ups than original team members present

EXAMPLE

When exceptions are not in force, the following applies:

- Team Soccer has 3 players. They are allowed 3 call-ups.
- Team Soccer has 4 players. They are allowed 4 call-ups.
- Team Soccer has 5 players. They are allowed 4 call-ups.
- Team Soccer has 6 players. They are allowed 3 call-ups.
- Team Soccer has 7 players. They are allowed 2 call-ups.
- Team Soccer has 8 players. They are allowed 1 call-up.
- Team Soccer has 9 players. They are allowed 0 call-ups.

EXCEPTIONS

1. All Divisions: Goalkeeper Exception

Goalkeeper is a specialized position.

As such, if your team GK is not present, you may call-up a GK (male or female).

This counts against the number of call-ups you have.

2. Coed Division: Female Exception

If your team has 3 or fewer female players, you may call-up females until there are 4 females total.

This allows for 1 sub for females.

3. Men's OT 35+ Division: Tiers

In games between two teams in the Recreational tier:

- All call-ups must come from a Recreational tier team, unless
 - There are no available Recreational tier players available to play as a call-up, and both teams agree to allowing a Competitive tier player as a call-up
 - If this happens, the opposing team to the one that has a Competitive tier player as a call-up may also now have a Competitive tier player as a call-up in addition to existing call-up.

In games between a team in the Recreational tier and a team in the Competitive tier:

- Call-ups for Recreational team may be a player from a Recreational or Competitive tier team.
- Call-ups for Competitive team must be a player from a Recreational tier team, unless:
 - Recreational team has a call-up from a Competitive tier team, in which case the Competitive team can have as many call-ups from a Competitive tier team as the Recreational team; or
 - If there are no available Recreational tier players available to play as a call-up, and both teams agree to allowing a Competitive tier player as a call-up.
 - If this happens, the opposing team to the one that has a Competitive tier player as a call-up may also now have a Competitive tier player as a call-up in addition to existing call-up.
